

Independent Directed Studies Course Outline

Combine your passion with your talent to earn 1 - 4 course credits in Independent Directed Studies! You can:

- 1) Build your own course from training that you wish to take locally Example: create an Outdoor Education focus by combining other courses such as Wilderness First Aid, Swift Water Rescue, C. O. R. E. hunter training, or
2. Pursue your own learning by (working with your online teacher/mentor) to develop a project that meets at least one learning outcome for a senior course
Examples: write and direct your own play, design and create a hologram, design and conduct your own science experiments, design and build a useful invention, create a documentary

You are only limited by your imagination, available materials, and one course connection. Each thirty hours of work earns another credit to a maximum of four credits (120 hours). Students may begin an IDS course at any point in the year. Contact the course teacher to discuss the full range of possibilities.
